

06 March, 2008

Industrial New Orders

January 2008

NEW ORDERS IN INDUSTRY ROSE DECELERATED

In January 2008 new orders in industry rose by 4.0%, in a year-on-year base, 2,4 percentage points less than the observed in December. The growth in January reflected different performances of the domestic and of the external markets. The former, although decelerating, continued to exhibit a relatively high rate of change (8.9%). The later, registered a negative rate of change (-2.5%).
